Win $50 CASH and help launch an innovative new program for youth!

The Department of Psychiatry and the Division of Behavioral Population Health at UCLA are launching a new behavioral health clinic for LGBTQ youth. We need your help thinking of a name for this clinic!

First, a little bit about us:
This new clinic will provide services for LGBTQ youth that focus on building current strengths and supporting resilience. The clinic will also train future generations of providers in working with LGBTQ youth and meeting their needs.

This clinic’s mission is to:
⭐ Provide mental health services to LGBTQ+ youth and their families
⭐ Teach trainees to provide comprehensive, affirming mental health care

ENTER NOW!
Enteries should simply include a proposed name and/or tag line for this new clinic. Send as many entries as you want.

SEND SUBMISSIONS TO: LGBTQgroup@mednet.ucla.edu

Deadline for submissions: Monday, April 30th, 11:59 PM

Additional Details:
• Entries will be reviewed by committee of child psychiatry faculty and communications director involved with launching the new clinic.
• Winner will be notified on Friday, May 4th with instructions for picking up $50 cash prize on campus.
