Men and women with a BRCA gene mutations have a greater risk of developing several types of cancer, including breast, ovary, prostate and other cancers. BRCA mutations occur in 1/40 men and women of Ashkenazi Jewish ancestry, this is 10x higher than in the general population (1/400). Unfortunately, it is estimated that 90% of individuals with BRCA mutations do not know about it. BRCA testing is a simple blood test. It provides women and men with potentially life-saving information. Those who carry a BRCA mutation can take steps to reduce their cancer risks.
